WeatherAction releases free long range forecast for Copenhagen Climate Summit 7th-18th Dec 2009 & warns:

Climate summit to be hit by blustery deluges, probably turning to snow or blizzards and icy blasts in the region at times - especially heavy when President Obama visits Denmark & Norway 8-10th.

Piers Corbyn astrophysicist of WeatherAction.com long range forecasters announced on 17 Nov at Weather Action's monthly Press conference: "We are giving our WeatherAction.com forecast for the Denmark /Copenhagen /SW Sweden & S Norway region during the summit period free to attendees and the public to enable them to better prepare for blustery rain, snow and cold or icy blasts which we are 85% confident will dog the region for most of the summit. The blustery or wintry blasts are caused by predictable solar activity effects and are nothing to do with CO2.

We are 85% confident that the Copenhagen Climate Summit period will be hit by embarrassing disruptive blustery sometimes snowy deluges and icy blasts in parts of the region; and 99% confident that President Obama and the conference leaders will put the politically driven falsities of Climate Change hype and cover-up of the facts before scientific evidence and the well-being of humanity.

This forecast is part of our detailed December forecast for Europe produced mid-November and unchanged since:

6th-10th Dec. is a Red Weather Warning period of DISRUPTIVE weather (Solar Weather Impact Period, SWIP) especially 6/7th & 9-10th of Heavy blustery rain or sleet turning to snow or blizzards with bitter winds at times in parts of the region - likely to hit worst around President Obama's visit to Denmark & Norway (8th -10th).

11th-13th Dec will be mostly cold but less windy with lower precipitation and be foggy & misty at times.

14th-16/17th Dec will have more snow showers which will turn heavy with biting cold winds.

Around 17/18th is likely to have snow flurries & stay cold near summit end.

Denmark / Copenhagen weather is expected to turn milder in the days just after the summit end.

The Major SWIP 6-10th will cause simultaneous extreme events across the world; we will announce further.

Piers said "This forecast is created for the summit using exclusively solar-magnetic activity and Lunar and other modulation factors and nothing whatsoever to do with CO2. However this fact will not prevent the world leaders of the new Climate Change Religion claiming this disruptive weather is somehow evidence of Climate Change caused by CO2. It is important the public know that such claims have no scientific basis or evidential support and simply follow on their other fictitious claims and shameful falsification of data by its official guardians who are bent on hiding the general world cooling which has now set in.

The Global Warmers' own 'theory' claims that extra extreme events should be driven by extra warming. The world has been cooling for 7 years so any claim of Warming causing this wintry blast or any extreme is a doubly absurd.

There is in fact no evidence that CO2 has any effect on world temperatures or climate and there has been no increase in extreme events or any rates of change of glacier-length, sea level or the extent of polar ice or any meteorological parameter corresponding to the extra CO2 of the industrial age - See:

"CO2 climate theory has no forecasting power whereas WeatherAction's Solar Weather Technique has proven significant power in forecasting extreme events around the world many months ahead with 85% success rate"/

Time to Choose

Delegates and guests to this summit must choose if they want to continue with politically driven failed science which has become a grave and dangerous new religion and burden to world development; or support evidence-based science and public policy, Climate Realism and apply advancing solar-based science of long range Weather Extreme Forecasting And Defence (WEXFAD), to support their own people and others who suffer from predictable extreme weather events.

The theory of man-made CO2 driven Global Warming has hit an iceberg of failure and revelations of falsification and cover-up and its credibility now lies blown to smithereens. It is time now for honest green campaigners to get off the Titanic of Climate Change hype while they can, and stand tall themselves to preserve bio-diversity, rain-forests and defend nature's hosts of treasures for their own sake.

If honest greens do not jump ship now they and what they thought they stood for will get dragged down by the gathering world wave of revulsion against everything seen as green, as self-serving 'science', as state handouts to environmental scams and all things dear to the chattering classes.

Support evidence-based Science and Public Policy!

No to any DEAL in Copenhagen!
