

Disruptive Snow N/E in run-up to Thanksgiving "really useful" forecast by WeatherAction 4 weeks ahead

Disruptive snow in the run-up to Thanksgiving Day and snow for Thanksgiving Day, 28th, itself were well forecast by WeatherActionUSA 4 weeks ahead. "Forecast users and observers have been very impressed by our forecasts all year and getting the snow at this time is really useful. As our contribution to Thanksgiving we are doing a special offer for ALL winter months forecasts at 1/3 off (see below)", said Piers Corbyn, astrophysicist of WeatherAction.com

Left David McFeaters took a picture of this snowy scene in Oil City, Venango County, Pa., where more than a foot of lake-effect snow fell. Roads were shut down with accidents occurring on slick roadways on Sunday, Nov. 24, 2013.

Topical News
Tornado outbreak USA Nov 17 & Philippines Super Typhoon solar driven – not CO2
<http://www.weatheraction.com/docs/WANews13No49.pdf>

ARE YOU READY for winter? You can only be as ready as your forecasts!
ONLY WeatherActionUSA can give reliable long range forecasts
 WeatherAction makes Xmas early for you with this AMAZING OFFER
WeatherAction USA ALL WINTER '30d ahead' FORECASTS on issue: Dec(30Nov), Jan(31Dec), Feb(31Jan), Nov included now.
 - taking your access to Feb 28th. All past forecasts are publicly available => Forecasts / Archive
3 for 2 - $30 for 3 months (normally $45)
 => SUBSCRIBE NOW <http://www.weatheraction.com/wactmember5.asp>
 => Single forecast button is replaced by ALL winter months (on issue) single sub