WeatherAction successes rattle cages!

Piers Corbyn, astrophysicist of WeatherAction.com says: "We are very pleased with this success which follows our widely praised warning of many extremes in USA for July which upset a number of churlish CO2 warmist & 'luke-warmist' interests who are now mounting even more desperate, sad, baseless libelous attacks in the blogosphere".

Isaac End Game forecast

Isaac will likely make landfall to the EAST of the Official forecast for landfall track (right) <http://www.wunderground.com/tropical/tracking/at201209.html> said Piers. "WeatherAction End Game forecast is for Isaac to probably curve rightward of standard model tracks in the final days and pose LESS of a danger to New Orleans and MORE for Tallahassee".
